There was nothing secured of any value except a fadies gold watch, the property of John R. McKiroy, who had left it in the office safe for safety. The watch was valued at $80. Some time since the lock of the safe had been taken off for repairs, and had not yet baen replaced, and the thieves had easy access to the safe. Postmaster Campbell upon leaving the office sach night takes all the stamps and money with him, and consequently they made a very poor haul. Somehow the runor has got out that the well is the biggest kind of an oil gusher, but the Lytelicknesse's informant, who The attendance at the fourth annual court house is a finer place to hold such an exhibition than any former location of the annual show. It permits the division into departments, and it has been a long time since as many people were in the old building in one day. The people who attend are not by any means all Wheeling folks. Every town on both sides of the river for twenty miles up and down and back in the country east and west farnishes its quota. Why should it not? The surrounding country furnishes much of the show. Indeed, so much of it that the Bellaire Tribune is moved to remark in last evening's issue:

A COMPANY OF ARTISTS.

A Desirable Work.

Mr. J. M. Clouston, of this city, is agent for Wheeling for a very desirable work, Mrs Mary A. Livermore's famous book, "My Story of the Wat." In this new and superbly illustrated work, the world-famous Mary A. Livermore narrates her personal work and experiences as a hospital and field nurse during the war of the Rebellion. We do not know when 700 pages have given us more genuine pleasure. Mrs. Livermore spent four years as a nurse in hospitals, camps, at the front, and on the battle-field, and these four years were marked with pathos, glory, and sacrifice probably in ever paralleled in the life of any other woman. Her narrative presents a vimpany appeared at the Opera House last night, before one of the largest and woman. Her narrative presents a vivid inner picture of the womanly side of the war, more especially of her own work and thrilling experiences, with many pathetic and humarous incidents partraying the lights and shadows of hospital life. These are described as only an eyz-witness and a tender-hearted woman could describe them.

An able critic recently said, "This is the most richly embellished work ever published in America," There are splendid steel-plate portraits of famous nurses of Union soldiers, and many plates illustrating hospital tecnes and thrilling incidents in a woman's army life. No newspaper description can do these costly plates justice. They must be seen to be appreciated. There are also splendid fac simile plates of famous old battle flags, from photographs and paintings made from the original flags, printed in sixteen colors from 128 cm. graved stones. They show all the colors, tints, blood-stains, rents, shot-holes, and splintered staffs, exactly as they appear in the criginal flags. As we look at them it is hard to believe that the real flags are not before us. Mr. Charles Cooke, who has finished a course of abort hand at tawego, New York, has re-turned home and accepted a position with the Standard Iron Company.

The Standard intil started in full in every de-partment Thursday moralige, but owing to breakage of some of the majeditery there will be a further delay of a few days.

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilia do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilia is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, rative power superior to any other article

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Barsaparilia the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not away trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was
